IES PHILADELPHIA SECTION

HONORABLE MENTION: Kody Cheung

Concept Statement:

The repetition of the shadows of a previous design project served as such an interesting element I wanted to explore it further with this luminaire. I challenged myself to a greater extent by adding a movable element on the luminaire. This allows manipulation of light and shadow while producing repetition.

Judges' Comments:

"The shutter construction and pattern from the front is awesome and impressive"
"Wish the pattern experience happened on each side"

Concept Statement:

As a tree grows, its outer bark naturally cracks and peels away. The layers of string on the shade mimic the bark of a tree and the way it splits, revealing gaps of light. In addition, the four varying height legs symbolize the growth of the forest around the luminaire over time.

Judges' Comments:

"Incredible craftsmanship!"

"Love the detail of the way the forest grow"

"Craft is great and it certainly mimics the tree itself"

HONORABLE MENTION: Jaliyah Hall

Concept Statement:

I wanted this design to capture the emotional response that we all have when we think back on fonder times. To capture the whimsical shell I took a glass vase with a light at top and a bowl painted to mimic the mushroom. I tucked fairy lights into the moss to resemble lighting bugs.

Judges' Comments:

"The biophilic elements are lovely"
"It feels very whimsical in a literal way"

IES PHILADELPHIA SECTION

HONORABLE MENTION: Annie LeTourneau

Concept Statement:

The design intent for my luminaire was taken from a flower blossoming. The luminaire is intended to provide a nice ambiance that can be looked at directly without any eye strain. Tissue paper comprises the petals with fairy lights and petal shaped lights to provide illumination.

Judges' Comments:

"The luminaire itself is very pretty and a nice way to create a flower form"
"The fixture is beautiful and feels like the light is life"

IES PHILADELPHIA SECTION

HONORABLE MENTION: Ayisha Nahar

Concept Statement:

The luminaire takes inspiration from the delicate and graceful form of a jellyfish juxtaposed with the inspiration photo of ocean pollution. The design intent is to create a magical, fun experience for the viewers and to share my fascination of jellyfish, while also showing how pollution materials could be reclaimed for art.

Judges' Comments:

"Very impressed with the layers of light"
"Love how it pops from all angles"

Concept Statement:

Stained glass windows utilize colored pieces of glass which creates a beautiful projection of light onto surrounding surfaces. My luminaire captures this quality of light to create an ambient glow with colored film and cutouts acting as the glass panels.

Judges' Comments:

"I admire how each side is different and the texture added to the lens"

"Thoughtful designs on each side and the spinner allows everyone to enjoy each side"

3rd PLACE WINNER:
Jack Sullivan

Concept Statement:

This luminaire depicts the warm glow of the old-fashioned lamp poles against leave and trees lining the path. I used a combination of brass and steel wire to reproduce the twisting nature of a tree. The ginkgo leaves are cut from cardstock and the largest one flanking the light has gold leaf to reflect excess warm light back onto the piece.

Judges' Comments:

"Matches the inspiration photo nicely"
"I like the feeling it creates and I see the close resemblance to the photo"

Concept Statement:
In the photo one can see dazzling flashes of multicolored light that is reflected off of costume jewelry. The luminaire captures the mesmerizing effects of the sunlight reflections by using a stained-glass window film on a vase atop a rotating prism base.

Judges' Comments:
"The effect is wonderful, I could stare at it all day"
"The effect on the table is stunning and the inner reflector is very smart"

1st PLACE WINNER:
Bethany White

Concept Statement:

My luminaire is inspired by the natural way drops of water collect on spider webs and other parts of nature. Suspended by fishing wire, glass marbles of various sizes float between the natural elements to represent dew drops. The luminaire reminds the viewer of the delicate yet beautiful effect of the droplets of water in nature.

Judges' Comments:

"Very artistic and creative"
"Love how the water droplets shimmer and shake with nearby movement"
